PRISON RANKS MORE PEACEABLE TODAY

Convicts Apparently Accept Idea That Discipline Must Reign

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS April 25—Apparently accepting the idea that prison discipline must be restored convicts in the Ohio penitentiary went to break [illegible] in an orderly manner [illegible]

Catcalls and booing was absent and for the first time in four days the men marched with a firm snappy step. PRESIDENT BACKING DRIVE FOR PARKER

Repulses All Proposals To Withdraw Supreme Court Nomination.

WASHINGTON April 25 — Not only has President Hoover repulsed every suggestion that he withdraw the supreme court nomination of John J Parker [illegible] has [illegible] quiet but determined campaign to obtain his confirmation by a hostile senate

In this Parker fight and it is a [illegible] one—the president has abandoned his policy of doing the proposing and allowing the senate to do the disposing. He has flung himself personally and the tremendous weight of his White House influence squarely behind the effort to overcome the senate's undoubted hostility to the North Carolinian. Moreover he is hopeful of success not later this week but eventually before the senate adjourns

Dissatisfied with the [illegible] taken by Republican leaders who have counselled withdrawal of the name Mr Hoover is having his own polls taken almost daily

First Reports Discouraging

The first ones were distinctly discouraging. They showed that if the North Carolinian were voted on immediately he would be rejected by from four to six votes, depending upon the absentees and other factors that enter into any senate vote

Pressure of the kind not easy for some senators to withstand—particularly with a campaign approaching—has been exerted in behalf of Parker on some of the wavering ones. And some progress is understood to have been made although the White House is still unwilling to allow the nomination to go to a vote

Given another few weeks with the White House "bearing down" on some of the recalcitrant ones and friends of Judge Parker believe that it may yet be possible to confirm him notwithstanding the fact that every independent poll taken to date indicates certain rejection

Both parties are badly split on the nomination. Parker's friends in the senate are principally Democrats although he himself is a Republican. A handful of southerners, headed by the two North Carolina senators, stand behind Parker because they believe his

UNCLAIMED PRISON DEAD BURIED TODAY

Bodies of Victims Not Wanted by Relatives Placed in Columbus Cemetery.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O April 25—The unwanted dead—the bodies of [illegible] convicts whose lives were snuffed by fire while they were locked in their cells at Ohio penitentiary—were to be consigned to the earth late today. These men, sinners against society, were to go to their last rest unmourned by relatives and friends

Sixty of the victims were to form the mass funeral procession from the temporary morgue to the huge grave in Eastlawn cemetery. The negro victims were to be buried in Evergreen cemetery

Most of these men have been identified but their bodies were unclaimed. Relatives and friends had deserted them when they entered Ohio penitentiary and now these same relatives and friends left them to go to their last rest with only the impersonal state of Ohio attending their remains. The state which demanded of these men the penalty for their crimes, is their nearest of kin

To the credit of some relatives and friends be it said they did not desert their dead. They came seeking the mortal remains of a loved one. They went away empty handed for they [illegible] identify those they sought among the buried corpses

At 4 p m today as the sun sinks its way into the west so also will these many caskets sink into the grave with only the words of a minister intoning "Dust thou art and unto dust thou shalt return"

PLANS REPORT NOT LATER THAN MONDAY

Day Guard Contradicts Testimony of Watkinson in Blaming Hall.

DEATH TOLL NOW IS 320

New Version of Situation in Death Trap Given as Inquiry Nears Close.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O April 25—Governor Cooper's investigating committee closed its inquiry into the Ohio penitentiary fire late today with a jumbled account by prison guards as to what happened in the G and H cell blocks where 320 prisoners were suffocated last Monday night

Thomas Watkinson day guard in the damaged cell ranges told the investigators that Night Captain John Hall was responsible for delay in getting the prisoners out of the cells because he issued orders that the door leading to the cage should not be opened

The next witness Hubert L Richardson a day guard stationed on the upper tiers of G and H sections, declared that Watkinson was mistaken because the cage door was open all the time during the fire. His testimony was borne out by Captain Hall, who denied issuing orders to anybody.

Plans Early Report

The investigating committee hopes to make its report to Governor Cooper not later than Monday

It has been hearing testimony since Tuesday morning when the governor appointed Attorney General Gilbert Bettman to take charge of the official inquiry

"I was on duty on the fifth and sixth tiers," Richardson testified. "At 5 30 I came down to go to a lavatory. The cage door was not locked then. It was about seven or eight minutes when I returned. I went back up to the sixth tier and then learned of the fire for the first time

"I yelled down to Watkinson who was standing at the north end of the cell block. Then I ran down the steps and out the cage door. It was still unlocked"

At this point Richardson's testimony was just the opposite of Watkinson's. The latter said he was standing at the cage door with the key in the lock waiting for orders from Captain Hall to open it. He said he let Richardson out and locked it again

Starts Them Guessing

Richardson's testimony threw the investigators into a quandary for they now have the stories of at least six guards who were in the burning cell blocks and all of them differ

If Richardson's story is substantiated it means that the door to the ranges was open all the while Watkinson and Guards Little and Baldwin were wrangling about unlocking it and getting the men out of the cells

Richardson said he heard the argument but thought the officers were talking about the big gate leading into the prison yard. The first thing he did was to run to the guard room after cell keys he said

The testimony of guards Little and Baldwin is at variance with that of Watkinson. Both said they had keys to the G and H cells when they ran from the guardroom at the first alarm of fire. Watkinson said they arrived at the cell blocks without keys and had to go back after them

Hall Last Witness

Captain Hall called as the last witness corroborated Richardson's story about the cage door being opened. He said as far as he knew there was no argument between the guards

Hall denied that he had given orders to anyone not to open any doors. He said he had no authority over the day guards and had never given them any orders unless directed to do so by the warden or the deputy

Watkinson's Story

Guard Watkinson told the investigators this morning that Captain Hall had given him specific instructions not to open the cage door leading to the upper ranges in the ill-fated cell blocks G and H. He said if guards had gone through when the fire was discovered all the men could have been released safely from their cells

Watkinson's version could hardly have been possible for the door to the ranges was always kept open until 6 o'clock when the night guards come on duty Richardson said. The fire was discovered between 5 30 and 5 40

As the committee investigating the penitentiary fire went into session today the fire death toll was increased to 320 when two convicts succumbed to pneumonia in the prison hospital

Alvin Barnes of Clark county and James Andrews of Ross county were the new fatalities. They contracted pneumonia from exposure and weakened lungs. Andrews was serving 10 to 25 years for shooting to kill.

Guard Thomas Watkinson repeated his statement to the governor's investigating board today that John Hall, 72-year-old captain of night guards at Ohio penitentiary, was responsible for the delay in opening cells that cost the lives of 320 convicts in last Monday's fire

"I believe that Captain Hall at that time did not believe the fire was dangerous and he was afraid to let

NEW YORK April 24—The unstylish "stout" is on the rampage and something is going to be done about this business of trying to cram a battleship figure into a cruiser line gown

A brand new line of clothes will be displayed on Fifth Av next fall by the ladies who tip the scales at 175 pounds or more

Next Tuesday afternoon women who confess to being mighty sick of trying to wear their daughter's clothes will gather at the homemaking center of the State Federation of Women's clubs to select a committee to wage the battle And for perhaps the first time in their history they're going to see themselves as others see them

TO SHOW how much in earnest they are over this business of getting clothes to suit them, a number of women have offered to display themselves as horrible examples in a style show

They're going to don tight coats that hug no longer slim hips belted frocks that pinch portly diaphragms and ruffled dresses designed for slim 16 year old misses who have never tasted a cream puff And they're going to march back and forth and show the assembled multitude just how terrible they can look

They're going to begin after the style show Tuesday by selecting a committee to tell the dress manufacturers who are already interested what they want in the way of color and belts and semi lines, and a few other things

THE dress manufacturers have agreed to tell their buyers to bring back stylish modes from Paris which can be adapted with some dash to hips which are no longer what they used to be A number of prominent New York shops have promised to take on and sell the revised models

And when fall comes the woman who weighs pounds herself she'll be as easy [illegible] upon as her [illegible] daughter

Truck Carrying Prisoners to Lima Hospital Has Trouble in Kenton.

Special To The Star

KENTON April 24—Hardin county officials were called upon today to assist the transfer of [illegible] prisoner from the state penitentiary to the Lima State hospital for the insane.

The [illegible] state truck carrying the prisoners and three pen guards broke down in Kenton and immediately the guards appealed to county officials. A passenger bus was chartered and the journey to Lima continued.

LAST NIGHT at the THEATERS

Arliss Superb in "The Green Goddess"

SUPERB acting on the part of George Arliss combined with the excellent diction of his subtle lines in "The Green Goddess" afforded show patrons at the Marion an evening of rare entertainment last night. Arliss is supported by a cast, worthy of his acting, including Alice Joyce Ralph Forbes and H B Warner The show which is being sponsored by members of St Rita's guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church as a benefit will be repeated this afternoon and tonight

Wireless telegraphy plays an important part in the delivery of Lucille, wife of Major Crespin, hero of the story and Dr Traherne, from death at the hands of the Rajah played by Arliss after the trio makes a forced landing in an unknown kingdom in the Himalaya mountains. Bargaining on the part of the Rajah brings out the fact that Lucille and the doctor are in love and also affords an insight on the philosophy of the Rajah's life

Although the picture is strictly an adult production youngsters will find plenty of entertainment in the arrival of the airplane fleet and the activities of the natives of the little colony

VETERANS' PAY BILL PASSED

Gets Favorable Vote in House, Goes to Senate, Hoover Veto Predicted.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON April 25—[illegible] amended and attended [illegible] presidential veto [illegible] son or Rankin bill to extend aid and increase veterans compensation was turned over to the senate today by [illegible].

The measure [illegible] latter [illegible] after its author Chairman Johnson of the veterans [illegible] had sought unsuccessfully to [illegible] It recommitted because of the many amendments that had been written into the measure.

Failing [illegible] Johnson [illegible] with [illegible] of the measure to be changed to the Rankin bill. Representative Rankin Democrat Mississippi had been the vigorous sponsor of most of the amendments.

The principal change in the veterans compensation law that will be effected by the measure is an extension until Jan 1 1930 of the time limit on disabilities entitled to compensation. As passed by the house veterans would receive from all aid from the government for all disabilities incurred up until that time.

The bill also would increase the total of compensation for total disability to $200 with lesser compensation in proportion dependent upon the percentage of disability. Veterans receiving hospital treatment but no compensation would be given eight dollars a month throughout the period of their hospitalization.

Predictions were freely made that President Hoover would veto the measure because of the expenditures involved. Chairman Wood of the appropriations committee asserted that in view of the chief executive's appeal for curtailed appropriations as a means of maintaining a balanced federal budget the measure should not be passed.

It was approved at the close of a stormy eight hour session by a vote of 324 to 49.

The opposition however was successful in striking from the measure a clause to prohibit the comptroller general from disallowing compensation payments approved by the veterans bureau.

Mrs Martha F. Lawrence Observes Birthday Anniversary at Findlay Home.

MRS. MARTHA F. LAWRENCE, [illegible] years a resident of Marion county, celebrated her ninetieth birthday anniversary Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. [illegible] of Findlay.

She has her six living sons and daughters and other relatives visit her in Findlay for a birthday dinner. They are Charles W. Lawrence, Bowling Green, Ky.; Mrs. E. O. Young, [illegible]; W. R. Lawrence of the Lawrence Fruit Farms, east of Marion; H. G. Lawrence, East Center st.; Mrs. Fink of Findlay and Miss Elma V. Lawrence, Chicago. Mrs. F. A. Young of Phoenix, Ariz., a daughter, died in 1925. Three children died in infancy. Two step-children are dead. They are the late George F. Lawrence of East Church st. and the Rev. V. D. Lawrence of Gambier, who died years ago.

It is said that Mrs. Lawrence has 100 living descendants.

Her health is good and last fall she voted in the elections. Relatives here say that she is an ardent W. C. T. U. worker and is vigorous in her campaigning whenever a candidate favorable to W. C. T. U. principles is up for nomination or election.

A remarkable thing about Mrs. Lawrence is that despite her advanced years she can eat anything any time of the day, a daughter-in-law here said. Her children and relatives are expecting her to enjoy her own birthday dinner as much as they will enjoy celebrating her 97 years of life.

WILL TAKE MOVIES OF HEALTH PARADE

Theater Manager Here Arranges To Make Pictures of May Day Activities.

The secret ambition of hundreds of school students to see themselves in moving pictures will be realized shortly after "good health day" here May 3, when approximately 2,000 grade school pupils will be photographed.

Arrangements to preserve the good health parade in news reel film have been made by B. W. Bickert, manager of the Palace and Marion theaters. These films will be shown in local theaters shortly after the parade.

The good health parade will begin at Forest Lawn school on Saturday afternoon, May 3, at 1:30 o'clock, when all children who have qualified themselves for the parade by bettering their health gather at the school to march to Garfield park.

A health demonstration in Garfield park will be held in Chautauqua pavilion. The public is invited to this demonstration which will consist of a health program and crowning of a May king and queen.

Crepe paper hats of various colors will identify the various schools taking part in the parade. Following are the schools to be represented and the color of caps to be worn by pupils of each school: Vernon Heights, light blue; State st., dark blue; Glenwood, medium blue; Mark st., red; Forest Lawn, yellow; Davids st., orange and blue; St. Marys, violet; Olney av., white; Oak st., purple; Greenwood st., pink; Oakland Heights, red and white; Silver st., brown; North Main st., dark green; Pearl st., orange; Lincoln, light green.

Authors Weave Interesting Tales

THREE volumes that are entertaining and amusing enough to increase their relative importance are C. MacLaurin's "Post Mortems of Mere Mortals," Don Herold's "Strange Bedfellows," and W. Somerset Maugham's "The Gentleman in the Parlour."

The first is a collection of essays by an Australian doctor who speculates in the effect physical infirmities had on the great. He discusses Napoleon's cancer and Pepys' ailments and suggests reasons for Joan of Arc's visions.

Don Herold's strange bedfellows are the specimens of humanity with whom he has come into contact as a humorist and cartoonist. His informal autobiography of an Indiana small town boy who made good despite laziness and his bright quips about a life composed of college, bridge, and babies are enlivened by his inimitable art.

Maugham's book is a leisurely traveler's recollections of a warm, exotic cast of natives and Englishmen and the odd stories he hears under the spell of the pagodas.

Harold Bindloss Writes Mystery

A MYSTERY story of the Solway coast and the Saskatchewan prairie is told by Harold Bindloss in his novel, "The Man at Willow Ranch." A man hunt in the forests of the Canadian Northwest and a love story of a delicately reared English girl suddenly transplanted to pioneer life on the prairie weave adventure and romance.

When a serious young rancher attempts to hide his laughing, irresponsible young war buddy, and three blackmailers, willing to do murder, get on the trail, adventure is bound to happen. Bindloss takes his characters rapidly from one entanglement to another, turns the hunters into the hunted, sweeps them across the prairie into dark forests, and ends, as all good tales should end.

Light Fiction For Spring

AMONG the spring list of light fiction is Margot Neville's "Giving the Bride Away." Miss Neville is the author of "Kiss Proof." Charles Montgomery Martindale was in a dilemma of no mean proportions. He had always known that he was to marry Kathie Palfrey and hadn't especially minded, for hadn't Palfrey pere saved Charles' father from a lingering death on that bloody battlefield at Omdurman? Charles was a dutiful son and besides Kathie was not unattractive. All went well until Charles met Delia and fell head over heels in love with her. Charles' frantic efforts to "do the right thing" and still win through to Delia, his heart's desire, make interesting reading.

Walpole Writes "Rogue Herries"

HUGH WALPOLE makes an excursion into the [illegible] of historical fiction in "Rogue Herries," has contributed to the Scottish lore.

The eminent Englishman draws a picture of a man's soul against the background of early Scotland. Rogue Herries tried all his life to understand the inner workings of his mind. A lonely, introspective ruffian, his utter longing for companionship of a [illegible] drove him into the role of a swaggering, haughty, [illegible] gentleman, seeking elsewhere what his well-meaning wife failed to supply.

Seeming more tragic [illegible] with the gray, stern [illegible] of the moors are two other novels, ostensibly Clare Spencer's "Gallows Orchard," a fascinating tragedy of a girl [illegible] for disregard of the [illegible] of her neighborhood.

Nan Shepherd's "The Weatherhouse," a novel of Scottish women, goes further in the way of dialect and treats partly with characters who were slightly daft.

"Three Half Moons" A Tale of Florence

THREE half moons enrich the four iron torch holders on one of the great gray palaces of Florence, the Palazzo Strozzi, and it is with the celebrated family of that name that Stephen Brent's story, "Three Half Moons," is intimately concerned. Piero, the [illegible], the weaver will meet in the Strozzi courtyard; and suave Leone, the priest; and the noble Luisa, wife of Luigi Capponi, she whom Gian Giulio reverenced and on whom Alessandro de Medici cast possessive eyes.

About Florence and beyond this jewel of the Arno you will saunter, ride; at the palace and inn you will feast and drink and game; you will make love in a dreamlike garden and you will nurse hate, and will plot and stab to kill. All these you will do with Gian Giulio, and without remorse, forgetting that you belong to the twentieth century and not to the scarlet and black period of the Italian Renaissance which accepted poison and poniard and smiling treachery as the order of God's day. Terrible yet beautiful are the tragic episodes recounted by the romantic young realist, Stephen Brent.

Tense Situation Exists Following Riot Resulting in 15 Slain.

By The Associated Press

An official announcement at Simla, summer capital, said some of the political agitators jailed at Peshawar were taken to a [illegible] prison. A crowd gathered at [illegible] jail but the [illegible] dispersed them without bloodshed.

The correspondent declared the situation was growing worse steadily throughout India. The Mahatma he said was planning new aspects of civil disobedience in anticipation of the early arrival of the monsoons, which will flood Gujerat and make salt collections impossible.

The Harding Highway

There is decided gratification in this city over the news brought back by the local delegation in attendance at the meeting of the Harding Highway association in Canton this week There has been a very general feeling here which we believe has been reflected in all the Ohio cities located on that highway that a blunder was committed when its specific designation was discarded and it was made merely one of the numbered routes of the federal highway system It may not be amiss to say that there was a feeling of resentment [illegible] well not here alone but in many other municipalities along the highway

Thus it [illegible] that the announcement that some [illegible] Ohio population centers [illegible] concerted m[illegible] about the restoration of the [illegible] the highway and to mark it [illegible] program for [illegible] improvement among the proposed [illegible] being the elimination of thirty five of the grade crossings [illegible] the course of the highway [illegible] was pleasurably received [illegible] of the late president

However the problem is not that of the next year or any year thereafter but that of meeting the increase in the payroll of the department for the remainder of the present year which the addition of four men would entail—something like $2 40[illegible]

The city authorities say there is no fund from which the necessary sum may be drawn Certainly the city council should be able to handle the proposition There must be some way of meeting it There is an old saying to the effect that where there's a will there's a way Let us hope that a way in this case will be found If no other offers there might be resort to anticipation of the future That way have been followed before when the situation justified it and might well be again The proposal of the inspection bureau is too good to be disregarded The reduction in premiums alone justifies its acceptance to say nothing of the fact that the addition of four men upon which the proposal is conditioned would give the city the additional fire protection of which there is recognized need

Arbor Day.

This morning the trees were the first living things to greet you as you left your home Their sturdy presence helped you start the day more capably than you could have done alone After a day of toil the trees are still there always your friends and unmoved by the faulty judgments and sharp tongues of men

Trees make a cool retreat for you during the heat of summer They parade beautiful cloaks for your delight in autumn In winter their strong bodies make a shelter from the wind and snow Spring fills them with life and the overflow of their vigor is an inspiration to all who may have been lulled into dullness by the winter Every day in every season, trees are performing services of deepest friendship to humanity They do not ask for favors they can not solicit friendship They are perfect friends

It is therefore a thing of beautiful significance that man should show his gratefulness in some special way one day in every year In Ohio this thanksgiving festival of Arbor day is designated by a proclamation of the governor This year April 25 is the day chosen Programs intended to show the value and interest of forestry and the duty of the public to plant forest trees both for beauty and protection of the birds are to be given in the majority of schools today Pupils in many of the schools are to plant trees and shrubs

WHY BRANDEIS DISSENTED

[illegible] the confirmation of Judge John J Parker of North Carolina to a [illegible] justice of the supreme court of the United States [illegible] that the liberal Mr Justice Brandeis dissented from the ruling [illegible] the yellow dog contract case As an official [illegible] it might weigh heavily with some [illegible] that a man of the advanced views of Justice Brandeis should differ from the majority and thus [illegible] condemn the contracts whereby [illegible] employers sought to protect their business Mr Green does not however [illegible] why Justice Brandeis dissented It was not because he held that the contracts were improper or illegal On the contrary he said In other words an employer in order to effectuate the closing of his shop to union labor may exact an agreement to that effect from his employes The agreement itself being a lawful one the employer may withhold from the men an economic need—employment—until they assent to make it

What Justice Brandeis held in contradistinction to the majority was that the union men did not induce the plaintiff's employes to violate the terms of their contracts while the [illegible] had established to the satisfaction of [illegible] of the court that they did

The points at issue however were not the merits of the case of union or non union labor but whether Judge Parker should render his decision in accordance with the highest law in the land In both the Red Jacket and the Hitchman cases the appeal was to incontrovertible law Counsel for the defendant had argued that the decree of the supreme court forbade any lawful [illegible] means on the part of the union men to increasing their membership and Judge Parker said that if that were the case he would not hesitate to modify his position His decision was that the union leaders had no right to [illegible] induce or persuade the non union workers to break their legal contracts with the company

It may be that American jurisprudence is passing through a period of transition from which will emerge different conclusions as to the right of contract but at present it is no less easier for politicians to raise the cry that human rights are being sacrificed for property rights than it is for them to prove their point —Boston Transcript

Live Wisely for Health.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Every one ought to be able to [illegible] his own pulse and to recognize those things which are harmful or beneficial to him These words have come down to us from Plutarch that great Greek moralist who lived in the first century after Christ

These words are just as true today as they were then and even more so In our enlightened time with benefits of education in learning science and medical skill free to every one man should know far better how to live and [illegible] so that the body may be kept in health

Most of the diseases of civilization are the inevitable consequences of our mistakes and misdeeds Many of them are caused by faulty living

Faulty methods of living gradually lead to degenerative changes which affect the various glands, tissues and organs of the body Then are we at the mercy of the disease germs which gain a firm foothold in the system

We enjoy hearing about how to live and how to avoid disease The trouble is it is difficult to come first to the point of giving up practices which lead to sickness and disease

I am far more interested in prevention of disease than I am in curative medicine I always say that when you are really sick consult the doctor It is the business of the trained physician to give the personal examination and treatment for any serious ill

But right living and right thinking can keep the body in health The palate and mental [illegible] stress, and vanity to say nothing more of the weaknesses of the flesh are too much for the most of us We do not take heed when we know full well that we shall have to pay the fiddler

How often do you eat more than your judgment approves How many nights are there when you rob yourself of needed sleep well knowing that you will feel miserable the next day How often do you go out to a party in cold weather wearing garments too thin for wintry blasts?

You do these things, and worse perhaps Over indulgence in alcohol in smoking or any other form of over indulgence takes a tax from your vital forces

There are certain things which you can not neglect if you are to guard against disease There are certain conclusions of science that are accepted by all well informed persons Vaccination against smallpox is one Inoculation against diphtheria scarlet fever and typhoid fever are others

Nations and empires were destroyed by malaria Not until the world found that a certain type of mosquito carried the disease was it known how to prevent malaria

Today it is my single effort to recall to your mind the importance of doing those things which you know are necessary to your good health I beg of you to observe the rules of health.

It has long been established that a proper diet will do much to prevent the degenerative diseases With the right sort of food and right methods of living plenty of sleep fresh air and exercise you build for yourself These will give the [illegible] of body and mind without which life is hardly worth living

Think [illegible] the area surveyed—[illegible] take a rough [illegible] eastern flights of [illegible] It is considered believed that [illegible] than was ever [illegible] covered by any one expedition

The reason for [illegible] Byrd Antarctic expedition [illegible] is the use of the airplane which has demonstrated its exceptional efficiency [illegible] this sort

On his short exploration [illegible] year Byrd [illegible] her to penetrated [illegible] and extended explor[illegible] flight to the nor[illegible] clouds barred [illegible] he turned with [illegible] mountain range [illegible] miles south of the Nunatak [illegible] the present This is the range known as the Rockefeller range

A third attempted flight to the northeast was unsuccessful but a second flight to the south revealed a mountain beyond and to the east of the Rockefeller range and other signs of land to which Byrd gave the name Marie Byrd land Byrd expected [illegible] to confirm Amundsen's statement of having viewed what appeared to be land at about eighty two degrees south

These flights were followed up by the surveying parties The Rockefeller range of mountains was mapped and somewhat later a small party under Dr Gould made geological explorations of these mountains and secured a number of specimens This party was stranded and as the result of the wreck of their Fokker plane Admiral Byrd went to their rescue and after a dangerous flight succeeded in bringing them in

These flights were bristling with surprises with disappointments and hopes realized A flight which promised riches would prove wholly barren of result A flight from which little hope of important discovery was expected would result in important findings

COLUMBUS, Apr. 25—The [illegible] [illegible] was [illegible] been [illegible]

Discontent in Evidence

As the inquiry neared its close rumblings of discontent continued to permeate the old prison where hundreds of sullen convicts maintained an attitude of passive resistance—aimed, their leaders said, at the dismissal of Warden Thomas. The revolt, they said, will continue until that goal is achieved.

Although the prisoners at first were extremely unruly and threatened to kill guards, it appeared today they would confine their resistance program to refusing to obey guards. Opposition to Thomas was based on prisoners' charges that under the present regime they were treated cruelly. Other prisoners, however, said they had witnessed no brutality.

As a means of relieving crowded conditions at the penitentiary and thereby remove one of the causes for the unrest Governor Cooper was proceeding with plans for the transfer of 500 men to the London prison farm. Later a committee of citizens appointed by the governor will formulate a new program for handling affairs at the state institutions. The committee will comprise five members, two of whom already have been named. They are E. A. Anderson, Cincinnati welfare worker, and Julius F. [illegible] Cincinnati banker, educator and scientist.

POPULATION JUMPS IN TWO TOWNSHIPS

Third To Report Complete Census Figures for 1930 Shows Loss.

Gains were shown in two of three townships whose unofficial census figures for 1930 were released today by Frank A. Beery, district supervisor.

McDonald township in Hardin county went from 1,565 in 1920 to 1,684 in 1930 while Allen township in Hancock county increased from 813 to 821 in the 10-year period.

Madison township in Hancock county, dropped from 855 in 1920 to 684 in 1930.

Van Buren village in Allen township and Arlington village in Madison township are not included in these figures.

Beery today issued a request that all persons in his district who have not yet been enumerated should telephone or mail him their names and addresses. Telephone number of his office, which is located in the Marion National Bank building, is 2191.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE TO BE OPEN SATURDAY

Expect Rush as Belated Personal Property Tax Returns Are Filed.

Members of County Auditor Earl E. Thomas' staff today were preparing for a busy time on Saturday when the office will be kept open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night for the benefit of taxpayers who have as yet not filed their personal property returns.

No lunch or dinner hours will be observed Saturday which is expected to be the biggest day in point of number of returns filed.

The office will be open on next Thursday night, May 1, the final day for filing before the $100 exemption becomes void and the returns liable to a 50 percent penalty. Hours to be observed next Thursday night will be from 6:30 o'clock to 9 o'clock.

More than 11,000 blank returns were mailed by Thomas two weeks ago and the majority of these have been filed, an unofficial checkup indicates.

Persons who failed to receive a blank return are not exempt from filing such a return, Thomas said today. Blanks may be secured at the auditor's office at the time of filing.

candidacy represents the South's only chance of gaining a seat on the supreme court bench.

Opposed to him, however, is a larger group of Democrats and most of the Republicans from the North and Middle West. The Republican progressives are against him on his labor record, the usually docile Republicans from the Middle West are opposed to him because numerically powerful negro constituencies in their states are dead set against him, and because they are threatening political defeat for those senators who support him. In a few states like Indiana, Ohio and Illinois [illegible] is a powerful argument. Negro votes have been known [illegible] swing [illegible] in these states.

Before company No. 1 could recondition its equipment for another run and report for duty, fire broke out at the residence of Asa Loper, 155 DeWolfe st. Sparks from a chimney ignited a shingle roof and $15 damage was done. However, companies No. 1 and 2 were able to answer the call although they had not reported for duty. Consequently companies No. 1, 2 and 3 were on the job.

No. 3 company was immediately dispatched to its station on Mark st. while companies No. 1 and 2 extinguished the DeWolfe st. fire.

Arriving at its station on Mark st. company No. 3 found a call to the residence of Mrs. Helen Donavan, 178 West Mark st., where a chimney fire threatened to spread to all parts of the house. Damage to the house and to some furniture stored in the attic totaled $500. Sparks from a chimney ignited the roof.

trooping into the office with hot coffee and sandwiches. Judy grabbed a couple of cups of coffee and dashed through the crowd, through the gates and the soldiers and into the seething yard. His description of the yard was vivid and horrible.

He met two Negroes who inquired what he wanted. To stop their questioning he handed them eagerly accepted cigarets. During a conversation which developed, one of the Negroes toppled over. Judy attempted artificial respiration until doctors came, but the Negro was dead.

Enough by Midnight

About midnight Judy decided he'd seen about enough burnt bodies, and horrible sights and sounds, returned to where he had put the two cups of coffee that admitted him to the yard, and returned to the warden's office.

Outside the yard, at the southeast wall, he saw a rope dangling over the high gray walls. He yelled. The guards came running. Flashlights played over the wall. A guard on the inside was hauling up his supper—a bucket of soup.

Judy had a night of it.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM VICTORY IN PROBE

House Committee Plans No Further Investigation of Dry Amendment.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON April 25—Both wets and drys claimed today to have emerged victorious from the house judiciary committee's investigation of conditions under the prohibition laws which saw the dry statutes bitterly assailed and staunchly defended by a long succession of witnesses

The committee with a voluminous transcript of testimony to show for its extended hearings planned to take no further action as a result of the inquiry or to report any legislation based upon the investigation

The hearings were conducted on proposals that the eighteenth amendment be repealed although their purpose as phrased by Chairman Graham was to permit the wet spokesmen to place their views before the country

With the inquiry at an end interest in the prohibition issue centered upon the sessions of the senate lobby committee which is conducting an investigation of organizations formed to oppose or espouse the anti liquor statutes Today it was engaged in tracing out the activities of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment

The president of that organization H H Curran was called to the witness stand for his seventh day of testimony and interrogation Members of the committee were ready with questions based upon correspondence seized from the files of the association by subpoena after Curran had declined to yield it voluntarily because of its confidential nature

Condemned Killer of Three Chooses Rifles Rather Than Die in Noose.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 25 — [illegible] Green, confessed murderer of his wife, his mother-in-law and his uncle, will pay his debt to society by facing a firing squad at the state penitentiary here May 17.

Like twenty-eight of thirty other men that have been executed at the state penitentiary, the 21-year-old slayer chose to be shot rather than hanged when confronted with the Utah statute which provides a condemned person may choose between the two methods of execution.

"I'll be shot," Green said calmly when District Judge Eugene E. Pratt at Farmington, Utah, sentenced him to die and asked him to choose between hanging and shooting.

Green was convicted for the murder of his uncle, whom he shot to death together with his wife and her mother at the latter's home in Layton, Utah, during the heat of anger when his estranged wife refused to return with him to their home in Ogden. He pleaded insanity at the trial. The jury in returning a verdict of guilty failed to recommend leniency, making the death penalty mandatory.

Under the Utah law Green will face a firing squad composed of five volunteers whose identity is known only to the sheriff of the county in which the crime was committed and who must deliver them by mandate to the state prison in Salt Lake City.

On the day of the execution the five men will arrive at the prison in a closed car.

A curtain is hung between the doomed man and the firing squad. [illegible] in the curtain through which the rifles are aimed and fired. Four of the guns are loaded and one of them is blank. The guns are placed in selected position and the five men comprising the firing squad march by and select a gun, none of them knowing which rifle [illegible].

The [illegible] rifles [illegible] at a given signal and [illegible] return to the [illegible] from which the guns were [illegible] and re-rack them and then leave.

The state prison maintains no fixed organization for use as a firing squad. Each sheriff is required to "rustle" his own volunteers.

Since 1855 thirty men have been executed at the Utah prison. The last execution by a firing squad was in 1926 when Ed McGowan, a negro convicted of murder, faced the death-dealing rifles.

Green's attorney has appealed to the state for funds to pay for a transcript and perfect an appeal to the supreme court from the decision of the lower court.

Tenor Soloist Is Feature of Revue Program

LEWIS JAMES, tenor of the Raleigh Rovers, will be soloist during the Raleigh Revue Friday night at 10 o'clock through Station WEAF, singing the "Neapolitan Love Song" from Victor Herbert's operetta hit of a few seasons ago, "Princess Pat." He will be accompanied by the Raleigh orchestra conducted by William Merrigan Daly.

As usual the Revue will be in Two "Acts" and Sixteen "Scenes" with Sir Walter himself acting as Master of Ceremonies. For the climax to Act One Daly has prepared a special orchestration of George Gershwin's famous "Rhapsody in Blue." Instead of being merely an orchestral number it will be done as an ensemble with the Raleigh Rovers quartet, Phil Ohman and Victor Arden at their two pianos and the soprano soloist participating.

The Revue opens this week with an ensemble of hits from "The Little Show", including "I've Made a Habit of You", "Can't We Be Friends", which the Rovers will sing, "Moanin' Low" which Ohman and Arden will lament on their two keyboards, and "Or What Have You" during which the Rovers will do vocal gynastics.

Early Traffic Laws

"O[illegible] [illegible] highways [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] direction [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]"

So reads one of the 17 items in the first traffic rules adopted in the United States according to Mrs. D. [illegible] Gallagher, secretary of the Marion Automobile club.

These rules were adopted by New York [illegible] on Oct. 30, 1903, just as the automobile began making its appearance, but strangely enough its name was not mentioned in the 17 items, she says.

New York state, however, took notice of automobiles by passing a law in 1901 which governed their use on the highways. Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan, Illinois and Pennsylvania followed with legislation. Texas was the last, its motor vehicle law being passed in 1917.

The word vehicle in 1903 included equestrians and everything on wheels or runners, except street cars and baby carriages.

Another War Story

PUBLICATION of a yarn in the Streets of Marion column Tuesday concerning an American soldier whose German prisoner he discovered to be his first cousin brought forth another today from Fred Haas, make-up man in the Star's composing room.

Haas relates that while with the American army of occupation in Germany after the signing of the Armistice his company was marching into a small German village.

Suddenly one of his "buddies," noticing the name of the town on a sign exclaimed "I believe my mother was born here."

Asking leave of his captain, he scouted around the town and succeeded in running across an uncle—his mother's brother—who was running a butcher shop.

Friendship Lasts

A FRIENDSHIP hastily made may be a lasting one, it was proven to Blair M. Clerk, manager of the Community Fund drive to be launched here next month.

Before coming to Marion, Clerk was manager of a campaign in Waterloo for the Salvation Army. His chief henchman was George R. Spensley of that city, who was general chairman of the drive.

Spensley recently notified Clerk he would visit him here en route to eastern states where he was to take a vacation. To give him more time to renew their friendship, Spensley arranged to spend one night in Marion.

Brooklyn Man Makes Odd Deal For Auto

NEW YORK—A Brooklyn man recently is reported to have made a deal with an automobile agency that his friends are hailing as a masterpiece of financial genius.

The man took his four year old car to a dealer to be appraised for a trade-in value. The price of the new car was $1,400. He was offered only $200 for his old car.

"Only $200?" he asked in amazement.

"You're fortunate to get that much," replied the dealer. "We will have to sell it for about $50 and probably will have a difficult time in selling it."

"Tell you what I'll do," the motorist said at length. "I'll take the allowance of $200 on the old car, then buy it back from you for $50. My wife needs a car and that one runs perfectly."

The deal was made, and the motorist received a credit of $150 on the new car without giving anything of value in exchange.

When … she felt safe so far as Carew was concerned … She was now completely … she wandered … a bumpy meadow … her shoes … wet through with the dew.

And she was frightened. Much more frightened than she had been of Mr Carew and his … plot.

There were … about Jacqueline. She would … serene … Paradise row … where old Dobbin had lived … perfect … she was … never dreamed of dangers in the streets … where she had lived … never been interf…

"What a time I'm having," she … herself … "I … What wouldn't I give to be back in the old dormitory again … having an argument with Emily Gibbs? If this is the sort of thing one gets from being wealthy—Oh Teddy—Teddy——"

Then she cried a little more, and stopped abruptly with a gulp. Oh if only I could find a main road somewhere—a main road for preference.

But she was afraid to stir. She dared not explore the possible terrors that lay on the further side of this unstable stile. She felt that the stile was her only safeguard and feared to move away from it. She argued that if a cow appeared on one side she could climb over to the other. What to do if a cow appeared on the both sides she dared not think.

After she had considered this point in fear and trembling for a quarter of an hour she heard a sudden roaring, a rushing whirr of wheels and a great blaze of lights flew past her on the other side of the stile.

It was a motor car going at high speed.

… seen rushing recklessly through the fog.

Sounds as if that car has … began to run again.

… breathless … the car. It had … a bank and …

He … was lying … his arms …

He was an old man … wheel … wheels of the car …

The man was … ask Jacqueline to help him.

But how to help him. She caught hold of the edge of the car body … her … hands … lift … her own quick brain favored her.

Someone had been … fence rails by the roadside and there was a neat pile of stout poles eight feet long or so. Jacqueline very quickly saw the use of one of these.

She chose a pole, put the end under the car and using it as a lever was able by the exertion of all her strength to move it an inch or two.

Can you crawl out if I lift the car off you? she asked.

Yes, whispered the old gentleman. With the weight of the car on his chest it was all he could do to speak at all.

Jacqueline heaved on her lever. The man drew himself clear of the wreck. He did it painfully and slowly and before he was clear Jacqueline was white and panting with her efforts. She let the car down with a crash immediately he was clear.

"Oh! If you had been another minute I couldn't have held on. But I would have done."

She helped the old man to his feet. He was very tottery and leaned all his weight on her slim young shoulders, which were much stronger than they looked.

She guided him to the bank. Then she fetched a spring cushion which had been thrown out of the car and made a comfortable seat for him.

No sooner had she got him comfortable than he fainted.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M LEWIS

FRIDAY … I was glad of it. It … rained last night but it was clear and balmy this morning and the first thing me and Jubilee thought of was Annabelle Lee. It seemed kind of flat to me to think Annabelle Lee was in another place among a lot of strangers and if it hadn't been for my tea her being with her it would have seemed flatter. The bunch had went for more … when I was milking the … dimmed … so I didn't see them till we were feeding our faces. Then there came a short honk from out in front so my mother would know the auto was ready whenever she was. My mother said We ought to bring Annabelle Lee home tomorrow and my grandfather snorted and gave her a look and she said Put father (he is her father. He ain't nobody's grandfather but Annabelle Lee's and mine) you know hospitals are very expensive. Then my grandfather just glared at her and hollered I don't give three whoops in hades how expensive they are. This is my show and you are going to leave her there until she is absolutely well. My mother got up and went around to where he was setting and put her arms around his neck and kissed him and said All right, dearest, it shall be just as you say." Then I said Grandpa you are my grandfather and my mother's father but what are you to my aunt?" he said "I am nothing to your aunt," and my aunt stuck her chin up and said "You're less than that if you did but know it." Then my father got up and went to work and the rest of the family got ready to go to the hospital and then the bunch came with a lot more violets and some tulips the lady had called them in and gave them where they had got the lilacs and my mother took all the flowers in the car and my mother said I could ride with them, but I said I would stay with the bunch. Anybow she didn't think to ast. To … ride. Annabelle Lee had on a new silk nightie and was eating some chocolate drops the doctor said she might have and she wanted me to take one so I did. I would of tooken more only she didn't want me to. The teacher was showing her a picture book. My grandfather said to to the nurse that nursing must pay better than teaching. She said it paid a little better but she had seen enough suffering in France to last a lifetime. The doctor said he was building a hospital of his own and had been trying to get her to manage it for him but she would not. Tomorrow will be Saturday and I am going to be glad of … I am sure I was sore because I did not mind Annabelle Lee last Saturday.

"I know what," Mary said triumphantly. "I don't know why I didn't think of it before. Take me to the nearest railroad station. I'll meet you at the hotel."

It was a most reasonable solution on the face of it but my mental thermometer dropped perceptibly. How could I explain to Mary—now that she was free from the fear of Jack Lee's proximity—the real reason for Harry Underwood's strictures concerning her being left without Lillian's chaperonage on me?

CHARGE FRAUD IN STEEL DEAL

Eaton Forces Open Court Fight To Block Merger Proceedings.

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, April 25—The first move in an expected long legal battle to block the merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with the Bethlehem Steel corporation was under way today with the filing of a petition to restrain the deal.

The petition, filed here late yesterday by the forces of Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier and leader of the opposition, charges fraud on the part of the pro-merger forces and challenges the legality of the voting of approximately 70,000 shares, more than enough to wipe out the two-thirds majority by which stockholders approved the consolidation.

The fraud charges were based on the failure of Sheet & Tube directors to inform stockholders of the alleged lack of knowledge of Bethlehem's condition. The Eaton group has contended that Sheet & Tube's position is better than that of Bethlehem.

Eugene C. Grace, president of Bethlehem, said at his New York office that the pro-merger forces have no doubt but what they will be successful in the end.

Grace also reiterated his assertions that Bethlehem is willing to pay cash to dissatisfied Sheet & Tube stockholders who do not wish to exchange stock. Should all of the dissenting stockholders demand cash payments, approximately 810,000 shares would have to be purchased at a price running into several million dollars.

Mechanical Man Is Guest of Honor at Kiwanis Club Noonday Meeting

W[illegible] girls, he's here. Literally speaking he was here yesterday, [illegible] guest at the Kiwanis [illegible] luncheon and figuratively speaking he has arrived. Meaning, of course, Herbert Televox, the mechanical man.

[illegible] was left for the Westinghouse Manufacturing Co. to furnish the answer to the maiden's prayer and [illegible] for all time the hopeless [illegible] task of peering under the [illegible]

To be sure there isn't a woman [illegible] but what could see where decided improvement could be made, upon a first meeting with Herbie [illegible] decides that for a start, well, [illegible] a man for you.

Herbie's designers, probably with [illegible] eye to the future vanity of their [illegible] did not give a great deal of time [illegible] thought to his personal appearance, but his accomplishments are [illegible] and according to his promoters, [illegible] actions are most dependable. [illegible] aren't so essential as a check [illegible] the opinions of the fairer sex will [illegible] but is it a safe wager that [illegible] market of the future will see [illegible]'s grandsons and grand nephews [illegible] "great-greats" done in blondes, [illegible]ettes, tall and short and what you want, with names guaranteed [illegible]lease.

[illegible] tired business girl of the future [illegible] not grow more tired sitting up until the wee small hours waiting for the man of the house to click his latchkey, should she choose to install in her apartment home one of Herbie's relatives. He will always be there ready to do her bidding, sans the grumbles or wisecracking. And what a boon, when just before leaving the office all one will have to do will be to reach for the telephone, dial the number to which Herbie or Algernon responds, send a series of soft, soothing whistles over the wire, knowing full well he will answer, in a few minutes receive an affirmative buzz, and know that upon arriving home the coffee will be "perked" to a queen's taste, the lights on, the furnace shaken down and everything a symphony of domestic bliss.

Of course there may be times when Herbie's chest gets a kink in it, (that being the seat of his remote control) and he may be a trifle peevish about his work, but then you can't expect everything in a mere man. Ask the woman who owns one.

Two-Seater Cars Return to Vogue in Annual Indianapolis Race

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 25.—America's [illegible] mile racing [illegible] the basebal[illegible] [illegible] the international [illegible] Indianapolis [illegible] speedway May 30.

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, ace of aces during the World war and himself a famous auto racer of yesteryears and now president of the Indianapolis speedway organization, is [illegible] the arrival of two Italian racing stars and their 16-cylinder Maserati, the fastest car in Europe, with a record of 152.9 miles an hour. Jean Gaulino, the South America driver who recently won [illegible] the Gran Premio Nacional of Argentina, an 800 mile [illegible] American [illegible]

Return of the two-seated race [illegible] pushing event.

More than 50 new cars are under construction for the event and the [illegible] the largest crowd in the [illegible] of the event—162,000—[illegible]

Two Man Cars

For the first time in [illegible] years [illegible] return [illegible] the rear and [illegible] the track.

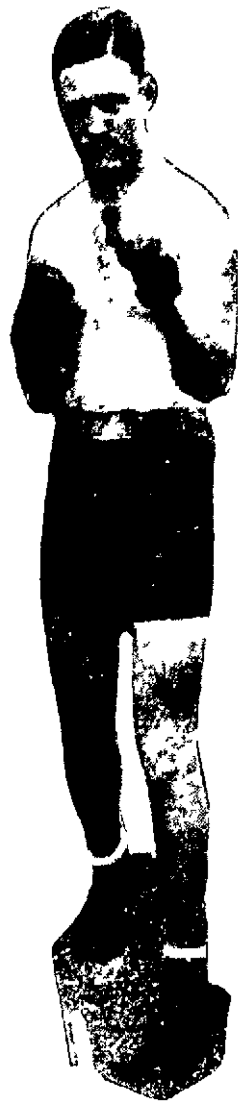
[illegible] projectile shaped weapons of speed the cars will be of many shapes and sizes [illegible] varying in size from the tiny 91½ [illegible] inches piston displacements, which have been raced for several years [illegible] plants as large as 366 cubic inches.

Whereas only 33 cars have been permitted to start the 500-mile grind, 40 cars will [illegible] starter this year. The American Automobile Association [illegible] sanctioned the [illegible] of the size of the track, which is 2½ miles around and [illegible] straightaways, two shorter [illegible] quarters turns. Places in the thirteen rows of three cars each and one car in the fourteenth row will be determined by time trials over a 10-mile tour the week preceding the race. The fastest cars get the front positions.

TRINITY PLAYS JUNIORS

Epworth Juniors will engage the Trinity Baptist baseball team tonight in a practice game on the Lincoln park diamond. This is the first game of the year for the Baptists while the Methodists have already dropped a 10 to 9 decision to the First Presbyterian nine. [illegible] will start on the mound for the Epworth team but the starting hurler for Trinity has not been named. The game is called for six o'clock.

TOPS CARD



Lonnie Bowden, the 'sockin' soldier,' will do his act Monday night when he attempts to effectively smear the countenance of one Lee Meredith who comes here under the caption of 'the Toledo Mangler.' Bowden may have something to say about the mangling to be done judging from the impressive lists of K. O.s and decisions which he has under his belt. The sock 'em and sink 'em soldier boy won the welterweight championship of the Hawaiian Islands while in the employ of Uncle Sam's fighting proteges. The army racket seems to have done him some good for he has been knocking 'em off more than ever since he again donned the civies. Bowden will treat the fans to some fast action and hard punching when he makes his attempt to plant Meredith Monday night in the Steam Shovel arena. They are scheduled to fight 10 rounds.

SEMI-FINAL GO TO RIVAL MAIN MATCH TONIGHT

Here they are: Chief War Eagle will know enough [illegible] his match in a fight again [illegible] get beaten badly if he does [illegible] either way it will make no difference. Or perhaps they could not resist who looked like a great fight.

However the commission's [illegible] their decision to re[illegible] original stand does not [illegible] What matters is that two [illegible] roughest wrestlers in the game will do their stuff tonight in the [illegible] of the weekly Criswell card. Gentle John Kilonis will [illegible] punishment of which he is capable to the yelling Indian of Canada. If the match doesn't end up [illegible] another fight no one will be more surprised than the average spectator.

Joe Banaski and Clete Kauffman will occupy the main spotlight with a three fall finish match. Kauffman [illegible] Banaski as another stepping stone to the title match with Hugh Nichols which is already [illegible] being offered for him. Clete may find plenty of use for the deadly [illegible] of his before he massages the [illegible] with the shoulders of Banaski. He wouldn't [illegible] a semi-final match a short time ago but he may do better tonight.

No preliminary for tonight's card has been announced yet.

WEATHER CURTAILS BIG LEAGUE GAMES

All But Two Games Postponed Thursday; Both St. Louis Teams Win.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

THE present [illegible] and dampness of spring appear to be storing trouble for major league baseball teams almost as fast as they are piling up double headers. [illegible] one club so far has played [illegible] games, the Chicago Cubs gaining this honor, while the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers have escaped serious consequences with [illegible] one postponement apiece.

More cold weather yesterday caused the postponement of all but two major league games and neither of these [illegible] owners. Only about 1,000 St. Louis fans turned out to see Browns beat Detroit 12 to 4 while [illegible] the number appeared at the Cubs park in Chicago to see the St. Louis Cardinals down the National [illegible] 9 to 2.

[illegible] the Boston Braves, for example, seem headed for something like the [illegible] of September 19[illegible] the New York Giants in [illegible] eight games.

The New York Yankees are in similar difficulties. Out of six games scheduled against Philadelphia they succeeded in playing only the opener in each city. And the Yankees have a rather small staff of starting pitchers [illegible] fitted to endure the rigors of a succession of twin bills, while the champion Athletics seem ready to go as far as they like with overtime play.

The Chicago White Sox also seem headed for trouble with six double[illegible] with [illegible] and Indians and St. Louis [illegible] of whom have some strength to hold [illegible] St. Louis game [illegible] the two games that [illegible] the teams [illegible] leading [illegible] as the Cardinals [illegible] one run [illegible] four.

[illegible] Johnson hurled game for the Cards.

Fred Schulte and Clad E[illegible] divided the honors in the [illegible] Detroit [illegible] the heavy hitting [illegible] stepped in as a reliever when Herman Holshauser [illegible] shut out the T[illegible] four innings.

This Game of GOLF

By O. B. KEELER

By The Associated Press

THE other day we were talking about Walter Hagen's reported intention to retire from exhibition and competitive golf and devote himself to business—he is in the golf and sporting goods line. Somebody asked me why Sir Walter wanted to stop.

Well, I said, Walter's getting on toward 40 years old.

The horns of hoots was rather general. So that was an old man, in golf. Why, he might be just getting good. Besides, Walter is only 37 or maybe 38. I'd be calling Bobby Jones an old man next. And so on.

It set me thinking a bit. I'd sort of accepted the idea which all the wise ones entertain that 40 years is old in any line of sport, especially intensive sport, but also in the more leisurely sport of golf. I suppose most of us just accepted the age limit and regarded the few athletes who managed to keep going creditably after 40 as the exceptions who proved the rule—Norman Brookes, Cy Young, the British golfing Triumvirate, Vardon and Taylor and Braid.

Then I remembered what Sir Walter himself had told me once, not long ago; that he was losing his keenness, that he couldn't get keyed up for competitions now as formerly.

And then I thought about Bobby Jones and the tidy beating the kid Johnny Goodman gave him at Pebble Beach in the amateur championship soon after Bobby had won the open title at Winged Foot with this same Johnny and a 140 more in the field.

Bobby had played with a curious slackness at the start of that match. Was it that he was not keyed?

Oh, I'm not calling Bobby Jones an old man yet at 27. But I think the age limit is correct as we accept it and I think Hagen picked the answer, when he said he was losing his keenness. And I think that one year in competitive sport takes two years toll at the least from any man, takes something from him he cannot replace—takes from him a constant tax on the eagerness of youth which is the fiercest of all inspiration.

S[illegible] himself figured on that basis at 40. And Sir Walter—well Sir Walter is talking about retirement.

BANDIT OUTWITTED

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Apr. 25—The Ludlow branch of the [illegible] National bank here robbed of $8,000 several weeks ago disappointed a "hands up" visitor yesterday. J. P. Colgan, manager, dropped behind a counter and set off an alarm. The man fled.

CONSTIPATION IS A HEALTH THIEF

Drive It from Your System with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Constipation steals the best out of your life. Robs you of strength, vitality, health itself! And many people do not realize that perpetual fatigue, coated tongues, bad breath, are often signs that constipation is in their system.

You must move poisonous wastes out of your system and keep them moving. But there's a right way and a wrong way. Pills, drugs and ordinary cathartics give but temporary relief—and their dose must be constantly increased to be effective.

The great natural cleanser is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. A tasty cereal, which brings you iron for blood building—and, above all, corrects constipation. The abundant roughage in ALL-BRAN gently and naturally sweeps out poisonous wastes and impurities.

Physicians recommend ALL-BRAN. It's guaranteed. Two tablespoonfuls daily. Recurring cases—with every meal.

You'll like the nut-like flavor of ALL-BRAN. Eat it in many ways. Delicious with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Make muffins with it. At all grocers. Served in hotels, restaurants, dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The Stars Say--

For Friday, April 25

A LIVELY and possibly turbulent day may be anticipated in both business and personal affairs, according to the predominant lunar transits. Although the aspects are of a generally fortunate complexion, yet the predisposition toward impulsive and tempestuous conduct should be held in restraint if the presaged benefits are to be permitted to accrue. The energies will be under high pressure, with a tendency to rush headstrong and headlong into difficult places. With calmness and self control all may be turned to advantage.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a lively year in private and business affairs, but there are certain perils to be encountered by a tendency to rash, hasty and tumultuous conduct. With self government and moderation many profitable situations may be developed and the urge to [illegible] strokes made fortunate. A child born on this day should be resourceful, energetic, versatile and socially accomplished, but it should be given early training and discipline in self government and [illegible].

RICHER and CREAMIER

A recipe of yesterday—now delights the women of today

..Right down the years, unchanged and delicious, came this mayonnaise, first made by a mother for her family's delight and now called Ivanhoe. Brimming with the richness of eggs. Healthful with its quantity of oil. Tangy with fragrant spices and pure vinegar—no wonder Ivanhoe Mayonnaise completely satisfies thousands of women who once insisted on making their own.

. Ivanhoe is richer, creamier, yet it costs no more than ordinary mayonnaise. It makes all salads good salads. It blends with every fruit, every vegetable, with meat or fish. It's as much at home in your most fussy party salad as in a casual family salad of odds and ends.

Buy Ivanhoe almost anywhere in quarts, pints, half-pints or 3½ ounce jars.

"SALAD LEAVES" is a unique booklet of salad recipes and balanced menus. Write for free copy to Harriet Meaker Osborne, Ivanhoe Kitchen, Auburn, N. Y.

HOME INDUSTRY

Doesn't it burn us up, when we see a steam shovel work on our street made by an out-of-town factory?

We all have some home town pride. One instance that pleased our pride was some 8 years ago, when returning from hunting in the Canadian woods after three weeks absence, with no connections from the outside world, we arrived in Montreal, and one of the first things we saw and heard was an Osgood shovel shoveling snow from the streets of Montreal. It just made us swell right up.

Mussels Excellent Though Not a Very Popular Food

ACQUIRING a taste for mussels while living abroad is a curious experience for the American traveler. In Europe mussels are eaten extensively, and even preferred to other shellfish. Yet here, where mussels grow as abundantly as clams and oysters, comparatively little are used, and many lovers of shellfood have never even tasted them. Why, nobody knows.

Because there are really things to be said in favor of mussels. For one thing, they are in season when oysters are not, from December to July. There is more edible meat in mussels than in either oysters or clams. The only part that cannot be eaten is a little tuft of black beard which is pulled off after cooking. Unlike clams which may be tough after cooking, mussels are always tender.

Should Be Kept Cool

After purchasing them, mussels should be kept in a cool, dark place, and covered with a wet cloth. Of course, they should be alive, and the test is to squeeze the shell—if it does not stay shut when squeezed, throw away that mussel.

The simplest way to prepare mussels is to steam them. Throw the mussels into a large bucket of cold water and wash. Lift out the mussels—do not pour off the water as this will only sift the sand back on them again. Place the washed mussels in a large saucepan and add only 1 cup of water so as to prevent the pan from scorching. Boil about 10 or 15 minutes—until all the mussels are opened. Serve the mussels on the shell, hot, just as one does steamed clams, accompanied by a sauce of melted butter and lemon juice mixed together. Each person removes the mussel from the shell for himself, the only part to discard being the little tuft of beard on the inside.

The liquid left in the saucepan should be strained to remove all sand, reheated for a moment, and served in bouillon cups. It is just as delicious as clam juice, if not more so.

Mussel Chowder

3 dozen mussels
2 onions
2 green peppers
2 tomatoes
2 large potatoes
1 thick slice salt pork

While the mussels are steaming, fry the pork in a large saucepan [illegible] add the sliced peppers [illegible] when light brown, add the tomatoes peeled and cut, and the potatoes [illegible] into cubes. Add the liquid in which the mussels have been cooked, strained from the sand; when the potatoes are tender, the mussels may be added. They must first be removed from the shell, the beard pulled off, and cut in half. Heat and serve with pilot crackers. (If the mussels do not yield enough liquid, water should be added.)

Bullets Eventually Will Identify Thug

NEW YORK — The criminal's [illegible] is destined to be as accurately [illegible] through the science of [illegible] operating with mathematical [illegible] as the criminal himself [illegible] can be identified by means of [illegible] finger prints, Prof. Charles O. Gunther, of Stevens Institute of Technology, declared in a recent report.

With the aid of a fund provided by the Engineering Foundation, Professor Gunther is conducting "an investigation along scientific lines of the principles underlying the identification of firearms and bullets, particularly in homicide cases."

With the variance of machinery used in the manufacture of weapons, [illegible] ammunition, it proves impossible for two discharged bullets to be exactly alike according to Professor Gunther. Identification may be difficult at times, but it is always possible.

City Lodging House Makes High Record

NEW YORK—New York's municipal lodging house, where the down-and-outs of the great city can find shelter, broke a record recently when a registration of 1,303 was recorded for one night.

The lodgers this night included 1,225 men, 51 women and [illegible] children.

The record registration was also [illegible] as well as the [illegible] registration [illegible] of last year.

Registration for March was the highest since the lodging house was opened in 1909 and the total for the first quarter of 1929 is over 50 per cent greater than in the first quarter of 1928.

From Jan. 1 to March 31, 96,413 [illegible] were registered, the March [illegible]. In the first quarter of 1928 the total was 60,[illegible].

LONDON—A model of the Prince of Wales' ranch near High River, Alberta, will be exhibited at the World's Poultry Congress [illegible] in July. It will occupy 100 square feet of space.

A girl with brothers is not apt to be so extremely exacting in her ideal of a husband.

CHEAP BREAD CHEATS YOUNG HUSBANDS

HIS career before him—a wife to support—a home to keep up—babies to feed. He can't succeed with cheap bread lacking needed nourishment.

His mind must be alert—his body active and strong. Ready for each new opportunity. Ready to make good, to get ahead to prosper.

His food must be the best, particularly the bread, his most important food.

Young wives who know these great truths serve Holsum bread for its rich nourishing goodness, because it helps husbands through each day's work. And because it is so inexpensive to serve.

INDUSTRIAL SHARES UP

Standard Oil of New York Reaches High for 1930; Call Money 4 Per Cent.

NEW YORK, April 25 — A brisk demand for principal industrial and public utility shares stimulated the entire market in the late forenoon today after an early period of hesitation.

Standard Oil of New York reached 40, a new high for the year, a block of 18,800 shares changing hands at that price. Worthington Pump ran up eight to 162, nearly 100 points above its 1930 low, several other shares of which the floating supply is limited, advanced sharply, notably J. I. Case, up eight, Eastman Kodak, Brooklyn Union Gas and Vanadium four.

On gains of two points or more Consolidated Gas, Louisville Gas & Electric, Houston Oil, Procter & Gamble, Shubert and Pathe Class A touched new highs.

Call money again renewed at four per cent.

Business News from Wall St.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 25 — The aggregate net operating income of the first 12 major railroads to report operations for March was $13,437,000, compared with $19,962,000 in March, 1929.

Contracts let for an 83-story office building, to be erected on the site of the famous Hippodrome theater in New York at a cost of $30,000,000, raised the past week's total value of heavy construction awards for the country at large to $111,874,000. The second largest week this year, Engineering News-Record reports. This figure compares with $61,685,000 for the preceding week, and with $78,324,000 for the corresponding week last year.

WHEAT PRICES HIT BY SELLING

Rains in Kansas and Nebraska Bring About Early Downturns in Pit.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 25—General selling on account of Kansas-Nebraska rains and Liverpool quotations lower than expected brought about early downturns of Chicago wheat prices today. Weakness of Liverpool was ascribed to offerings of new wheat by India and to bearish official estimates of India's crop. Opening ⅝@1⅜ lower, Chicago wheat afterward underwent an additional drop. Corn, oats and provisions were also weak, with corn starting ¾@1 down, and subsequently recovering but little.

Big trading formed the rule here much of the time in the wheat pit today. Heavy speculative selling of the July delivery was an outstanding feature, but there was also large changing of ownership in all months. Market effects of improved moisture conditions in domestic winter wheat territory were meanwhile being emphasized by reports that rainfalls in spring wheat states and in Canada had insured all spring-sown grain a sufficient supply of moisture for the present, with domestic seeding 70 to 80 per cent completed.

Appetite knows no season

Every day warm or cold rain or snow we must eat and drink to keep healthy. The state of any one's health depends lots on the quality of food and drink we consume. The better the quality of the foodstuffs the better health we will enjoy. It is reasonable to say that the resistance of the body has lots to do with fighting off the different diseases that are befalling the human race.
